This includes smart black shoes (or trainers for PE days) with GREY socks and plain black PE kit without logos. We have not included compulsory school-branded uniform to support with the cost, but this has resulted in large logos becoming more frequent. Please remind yourself of our uniform guide on our website if you have any questions. https://www.georgegrenville.co.uk/uniform.html

Nursery Corner

This week we have had a focus on developing our sign language skills and have really enjoyed listening and watching two stories by Julia Donaldson, Freddie and the Fairy and What the Jackdaw Saw, both told and signed by our parents.

We are going to continue with practising signing as it's such a wonderful language to learn

We have also posted a very special letter today to King Charles III, sent to Buckingham Palace. We wondered if we may one day get a letter in return.

Reception

In Reception this week, we have been exploring the story of Little Red Riding Hood. We have particularly enjoyed creating the Little World of Red Riding Hood using Art and DT skills with junk modelling to create a story map scene. We have also enjoyed acting out the story (even Mrs Bush and the Year 5s joined in the fun) and writing wanted posters to try and catch that nasty wolf.

Year 1

Year 1 have received two postcards from Shelly the Snail. They have been challenged to write their own postcards using amazing adjectives!

Year 2

This week, Year 2 have continued practising their art skill of applying tone with pencil.

Year 3

This week, Year 3 have been looking at Stone Aged tools and trying to work out what they tell us about how Stone Age people lived.

"Can I join in?" asked Oslop nervously. "I want to learn how to be a warrior."

Agreeing with Oslop, Torv said "you can but you will have to fight for your place. Because you have to fight for your place I shall give you one week of training before you fight."

After that one week, Oslop was more than ready to fight and he got through all of the levels of training. His opponent was Wurmund. After a few minutes of swordplay, the fight was on. The sword were raised and everything went silent. Oslop took the first swipe and slightly missed. Wurgundy came a fast swipe Wurmund was dodged by Oslop. Succeeding all of that, Oslop took his last swipe and catched Wurmund's leg meaning he won the fantastic victory!

Oslop screamed "I won, I won, I won!" The judge said "indeed you did!" Torv nodded in and said joyfully "You used all the skills I taught you and got an amazing victory!"

Year 4

This week, Year 4 have been editing their work in English and have started to publish their final piece. They have been writing about the story Winter of the Wolves a story about an Anglo Saxon boy.

Year 5

Year 5 have been learning about suspense techniques in English and have written their own suspense narratives based on Theseus and the Minotaur. They then published these on the computer using their digital literacy skills.

Nike and the Minotaur

Standing at the entrance, Nike's heart pounded heavily, a drop of sweat running down her neck, hesitant to find out what lay inside the maze. Before Nike could take a step into the labyrinth, she heard a shout and footsteps on the stone path. Nike whipped her head around, wary of everything on this island of fear. A girl approached Nike (her golden tiara almost slipping) and handed her...a ball of string? The girl, whose name was Ariadne, explained that the string was magical, and would allow Nike to find her way back, no matter how much the walls moved. Gratefully, Nike stuttered a quick thank you to Ariadne and entered the labyrinth- tying one end of the ball of string around her waist, and the other end around a post at the beginning.

The maze was dark, very dark. Nike recoiled as the first spot of colour she saw was a blood-soaked wall. She felt more and more guilty every time the blood dripped onto the chilling floor. Not wishing to watch anymore, Nike turned a corner, when suddenly- a rancid stench drowned Nike. What was that? Where was it coming from? Nike decided to follow the smell to the source. A pile of rotten flesh emanated a pungent smell so bad that it made Nike's eyes water. Quickly turning back, the smell started to be replaced with cool air.

Having a long time to think, questions flew around Nike's head, begging to be answered. Would she make it out alive? Would she fall to the underworld in this dark, damp, depressing place? Would she defeat the ferocious fiend? Running down long corridors, crawling through tight tunnels and twisting around turns. Nike began to lose hope. But, soon after, the wind whistled all throughout the echoing maze, the spirits of the perished howled, encouraging Nike to revenge their deaths- once again filling Nike with courage. Finally, turning one last corner... there it was. Like a statue, Nike watched the loathsome beast stomp around the den. Blood pooled on the ground, littered with bones of the deceased, crunching beneath the minotaur's hooves. Nike stumbled back, and the minotaur stared straight at Nike. It was time.

Year 6

Year 6 have enjoyed a delicious breakfast each morning with each other in preparation for their SATs. They have worked incredibly hard all week and we are really proud of them!
